

Dear Tenant,

Renter's policy, is that necessary?

Some people think Renter's insurance isn't necessary, but could you afford to replace ALL of your personal property if it were destroyed in a fire or stolen. Even though you rent your home, you've invested a great deal of money in your personal belongings----a favorite chair or maybe that special something no one understands but you.

These aren't just things, they're a part of your home which makes it feel like, well, home. But what if tomorrow there were to be a theft, a fire or a liability lawsuit? Could you afford to sustain those costs?

With Renter's Policy from State Farm, you can protect yourself from financial loss due to:

- Theft
- Fire
- Liability lawsuit

As your State Farm agent, I want to help you protect your home and what's in it. That's why it's time for a Renters Policy from State Farm. It protects you from the costs of replacing your favorite things.

With the high cost of replacing personal property today, you cannot afford to go without this valuable coverage with low cost.

Sincerely,

Meilee Fu
